

Problem Statement Project

Group Members: Reymart Velasco Carzhanay Sutton

Problem Statement:

Busy people need a better way to manage their time and responsibilities effectively. With many tasks, assignments, and personal goals to fulfill, it can be a hectic process to achieve all of them.

Who is the problem being experienced by:

Anyone who struggles to maintain the multiple responsibilities that they have to uphold. This is particularly for people who are parents, students, workers, etc.

What is this problem:

The problem is that finding a way to manage our time and meet our responsibilities can be a struggle. Many tools like schedulers and others often fail to meet those needs.

Where can this problem happen:

This problem can happen anywhere such as in meetings, family/friend times, work deadlines, etc. Example: Failing to meet a deadline for school because of your job. These situations occur when we fail to manage our time effectively.

Why does it Matter:

When we fail to meet our responsibilities, we fail to succeed in certain aspects of our life. This problem is easily overlooked which is why providing a systemic and efficient way to guide the many parts of our lives could make our lives far more happy.